GRAVES OF NATION'S DEAD ARE HONORED.

Solemn Ceremonies Mark Observance of Memorial Day at Arlington Cemetery.

CONFEDERATES REMEMBERED.

Charles Emory Smith, Orator of the Day, Tells of New Problems That Have Come With the Country's Growth.

Washington, May 39.-With solemn and impressive ceremonies, Memorial Day was observed in the national capital on a more elaborate scale than ever before.

Business was suspended, not only in the departments of the Government, but also throughout the city. People of all classes united in perpetuating the memory of the heroic dead, who in thousands sleep peacefully in the eight national cemeteries in the District of Columbia. The soldiers' monuments and statues on the Government grounds were all draped, flags on public buildings were at half must, and the netional colors were displayed from hundreds of private residences.

A touching feature of the ceremony at Arlington-a feature typefying the reunited country-was decorating of the graves in that section of the cemetery where the Confederate dead are buried.

Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadeiphia Press, delivered the oration of the day. He spoke in part as follows: The issues which bred the strife of sections have been settled. The reunion of the sections has been sealed in common sacrifice. In the crucible of a common struggle the lines of sections should be melted and in the new destiny the map of the Union should no longer be divided into North and South. NEW QUESTIONS ARISE. "The old issues have passed away. There are new questions of deep import-questions which come in part as legacies of the old and which may tend in some measure to excite the old feeling. There is the problem of dealing with race which has been emancipated from slavery and yet not admitted to the priv-lleges of freedom. The educational, the industrial and in some degree the political aspects of this subject demand the most serious consideration of all sections.

"We have outgrown the old conditions and the old animosities. Why should we not outgrow the old narrowness and the old one-sidedness? Reunion does not mean the suppression of individual conviction or the stiffing of frank expression. But why should it not mean larger liberality of spirit, greater breadth of understanding and higher effort for just, enlightened and patriotic action? The war for the Union had to come before we could enter upon our great national development. The conflict was irrepressible until the cause was eliminated. The war was necessary to make us a true nation. Our subsequent history, with all its re-splendent advancement, has been a natural evolution. We had to have the war of sec-evolution. We had to have the war of sections before we could wipe out sectionalism and enter upon real nationality. We had to have real nationality before we could become a real world Power.

"And we had to become a true world Power before we could become the world's best peacemaker, and the most potent influence, as a are, for arbitration, humanity and civilization."

MONUMENT TO GENERAL SHERMAN IS UNVEILED.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

-in the presence of a mighty multitude that filled the Plaza, extended far into Central Park and reached a block east and west on Fifty-ninth street, the St. Gaudens equestrial statue of General William Tecumseh Sherman was unveiled to-day while the hosts of the Grand Army of the Republic, National Guardsmen and the regular army marched up Fifth avenue in one of the most imposing Memorial Day parades ever seen in the city.

To the strains of "Marching Through Georgia," fraught with memories of the triumphal campaign of the warrior whose memory is to be perpetuated in the glant aze figure, the flags which completely velled the heroic statue were impressively swept aside by General Sherman's grandson, mseh Sherman Thackera, just as the head of the parade arrived opposite the reviewing stand where the Secretary of War, Elihu Root, Governor Benjamin B. Odell, Mayor Seth Low and many other civic and military dignitaries of the State and nation, as well as Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of the President, united in honoring the old soldier.

Secretary Root was the orator of the day. Mayor Low, in behalf of the city, accepted bronze in a patriotic address. Archbishop Farley invoked a blessing, which the multitude listened to with uncowered heads, although a heavy shower of rain fell,

DELAMARRE'S STABLE OF RACERS TO BE SOLD.

PECIAL BY CABLE TO THE NEW YORK HERALD AND THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC. Paris, May 30—(Copyright, 1903.)—One of the oldest stables connected with flat rac-ing in France is about to disappear, namely, that of M. H. Delamarre, whose colors were once so much to the fore. Recently he had a run of ill-luck. The

Prix De Diane was won by M. Delamarre in 1865 with Victorieuse, and in 1895 with Kasbah; the Prix du Jockey Club in 1867 by Patricien, and in 1873 by Boiard. He also captured the Grand Prix de Paris in 1864, 1872 and 1889, with Vermout, Bolardes and Vasilas. All his horses are to be sold

BELL NEARING SOLUTION OF AERIAL NAVIGATION.

Researches of Inventor Conducted for Years at Nova Scotia Disproves Long Accepted Theory That Construction of Kite Large Enough to Carry a Man Would Have to Be Deferred Until the Discovery of a New Metal or Force and Proportionate Increase of Weight Accomplished.

The Republic Bureau,

Washington, May 8.—Professor Alexander Graham Bell has given to the world the results of the first stage of his experiments with kites, entered upon for the purpose of alding if possible the solution of the prob-lem of aerial navigation without the lifting power of hydrogen gas. Professor Bell is not yet prepared to answer the question, "Shall we fly, after all?" in the affirmative, but he does ap-parently answer in the affirmative the parently answer in the affirmative the question, "If we are to fly, may we be able to fly when the air is calm as well as when a breeze is blowing?"

Professor Bell conducted his investigations, which extended over several years, at his summer laboratory at Badeck. Cape Breton Island, off the coast of Nova Scotia, where he was comparatively free from interruption, and he guarded his secrets well.

There, every summer since 1886, he has been at work dying kites of all sorts and sizes, carefully noting the work of different kites in all conditions of weather and bringing to his aid a trained scientific equipment of mnd, He made wonderful kites, of different shapes, and all flew well.

BEGAN WITH BOX KITE.

BEGAN WITH BOX KITE. Additional interest attaches to the experiments on account of the personality of the great inventor, who addressed his abilities to the problem. The man who gave the world the telephone naturally was bound to command respect even among the skeptical when he applied himself to the absorbing and baffling puzzle of human navigation of when he applied himself to the absorbing and baffling puzzle of human navigation of the air.

He started with the box kite invented by the air without the aid of a balloon. He ence

Hargrave of Australia, which can now be bought in any toy store. He soon passed from the box formation to the triangular formation, and from the triangular formation, and from the triangular formation to the tetrahedral formation, all the time holding to the main ideas of getting a kite which would be capable of lifting a weight equivalent to a man, and a small engine, which would fly steadily in a strong breeze, and which would combine lightness with strength.

The tetrahedal form, which is of four sides, each forming a triangle, gave him the maximum strength and the minimum of weight. Out of these kites he built a large kite, composed of numerous tetrahedral cells. He ascertained that in doing so he created a kite which increased in weight only in the ratio that the wind power increased.

The importance of this achievement may only in the ratio that the wind power increased.

The importance of this achievement may be gathered from the statement that it will compel a revision of opinion by all scientists who accepted the conclusion of Professor Simon Newcomb, made public in 1901, that the construction of an aerial vehicle large enough to fly a man would have to be deferred until the discovery of a new metal or a new force, inasmuch as the weight of a kite made large enough for the purpose increased in weight more rapidly than in supporting surface, and that a kite large and strong enough to support a man would be too heavy to fly.

PROPORTIONATE INCREASE

PROPORTIONATE INCREASE IN WEIGHT. Professor Bell has shown in his tetrahedral kits a winged apparatus large enough to support a man and an engine, and the weight of kite to wing surface remains the same no matter how large he makes the has made his kite or flying machine, which has made his kite or flying machine, which has proved to be capable of bearing a man and an engine in the air in a twenty-mile breeze.

He holds that it is immaterial whether the air moves against the kite or the kite moves against the air. Hence, such a kite, propelled by motive force, should be capable of use as a flying machine.

This is the problem: Can the kite which flew at Badeck when drawn into calm air by a horse—which exerted enough strength in a squall to carry away two men and broke a three-eighths inch manila rope, and which sust— itself in the air in a gentile breeze—can such a kite with motive power attached be made to rise in the air and can this motive power sustain it there?

If the subsequent experiments of Professor Bell are in the affirmative them the flying machine problem may be considered out of the merely speculative stage. There will be something definite to go on.

BIG FIELD WILL START IN THE AMERICAN DERBY.

Present Indications Point to the Fact That More Horses Will Compete Than Ever Before.

Chicago, May 30.-There is every indication now that the field which will go to the post in the American Derby June 20 will break the record for numbers. The extensive and general play in the future books on horses that on class appear to have no chance at this distance will contribute to verify this prediction.

It is something to get a horse to the post in the list of 118 has been backed at odds ranging from 10 to 1 to 1,000 to 1, most of the money coming from the owners. An owner who has backed his horse, say at 250 to 1, will take a chance of sending to the post with the almost positive assurance that he can win out his stake by the scalping process. Certain owners now stand to win fortunes on coils that on public form do not stand a ghost of a show, and many of them will start for the percentage. have no chance at this distance will con-

of the Western turf at home remain to be uncovered.

Savable, whom the weight of money has placed at a short price in the future speculation, has not yet been seen with the colors up in these parts. He had an easy race at Nashville in April, when he was "hog fat" and Enoch Wishard has been going slowly with him ever since. With all durespect for Savable's class and Wishard's genius and concentration of purpose, it is more than likely that the son of Salvator will be a longer price when the bugle sounds than Jim O'Leary is now disposed to lay against him.

Dick Wellee's successful debut at Cincinnati on Tuesday meant more to thousands of Chicagoans than it did to those who were looking at the race. As far back as a Billy Roller, who flourished in the palmy lation, has not yet been seen with the colors up in these parts. He had an easy race at Nashville in April, when he was "hog fat" and Enoch Wishard has been going fat" and Enoch Wishard has been going slowly with him ever since. With all due respect for Savable's class and Wishard's genius and concentration of purpose, it is more than likely that the son of Salvator will be a longer price when the bugle sounds than Jim O'Leary is now disposed to lay against him.

Dick Wellee's successful debut at Cincinnati on Tuesday meant more to thousands of Chicagoans than it did to those who were looking at the race. As far back as a year ago Chicagoans began to think of the big shapely son of King Eric as a Derby proposition. On several accounts he was the most serviceable 2-year-old shown up about Chicago. He bore the stamp of a Derby coit even in his immaturity and in the Hyde Park Stakes he carried 122 pounds and administered a humiliating defeat to Savable, who afterwards won the Futurity and is now favorite over him for the American Derby.

In the Cincinnati race, which was at six furiongs, Dick Welles proved conclusively that he had carried his sensational 2-year-old speed into his 3-year-old form. The race was a surprise even to his owner, who was supposed to be running merely for work. A 3-year-old coit with 112 pounds up the first time out in the season must have an abundance of speed to tow-roey Jack Ratlin, the 3-year-old coit with 112 pounds up the first time out in the season must have an abundance of speed to tow-rope Jack Ratlin, the way Dick Welles did. As the race was run. Respress's coit could have won as easily at a mile.

Dick Welles's impressive debut puts Au Revoir in the shade and Au Revoir is undoubtedly the best of the Derby candidates that have been seen with the colors up around Chicago this year. At this writing the Western dependence narrows down to Dick Welles and Savable and John A. Drake's coit must be accepted on faith alone.

ranging from 10 to 1 to 1,000 to 1, most of the money coming from the owners. An owner who has backed his horse, say at 260 to 1, will take a chance of sending to the post with the almost positive assurance that he can win out his stake by the scalping process. Certain owners now stand to win fortunes on colts that on public form do not stand a ghost of a show, and many of them will start for the percentage.

The Washington Park track can accommodate a big field and the length of the race minimizes the possibility of flukes.

This looks like the long-looked-for Eastern year and owners of Eastern candidates seem to realize that fact. The Western division seems to have been thoroughly sitted. Few of the horses upon which dependence can be placed to keep the blue ribbon

Billy Roller, who flourished in the palmy days of Guttenburg, has been completely of prosperity on top of the Pallsades Roller of prosperity on top of the Palisades Keller had a lovely helpmeet and she had diamonds. Suddenly Billy found himself a widower, and went West to forget his troubles. Now he's back, looking for another Landseer to send to the post a regular 8 to 5 winner.

By the way, it is not true that Mr. Keene christened the famous horse Futch Roller after the no less famous trainer Billy.
